Journal of Pakistan Endocrine Society (J Pak Endo Society)

It is a peer reviewed medical journal which will be publishing biannually. It will publish original research articles, review articles, current practices, short communications & case reports.

Vision: “Striving for Excellence in Endocrine Medicine: Envisioning a Transformed Future”.

Our vision is to establish an endocrine medical journal that empowers healthcare professionals, researchers, and patients to create a platform that fosters collaboration, innovation, and excellence in endocrine medicine. We envision a journal that not only encourages evidence-based medicine but also promotes a holistic approach to endocrine health.

Mission: We are dedicated to nurturing the next generation of endocrine researchers and clinicians. Through mentorship programs, educational initiatives, and career development opportunities, we will inspire and empower young professionals to become future leaders in endocrine medicine.

Rationale for the Journal: As there is no endocrine Journal in our country, therefore our aim is to provide Physicians and allied health care professionals with access to relevant information in the field of Endocrinology and Diabetes. To provide a publishing outlet for our members.

Topic Coverage: Topics related to all aspects of Endocrinology including Diabetes highlighting importance of issues related to this specialty will be accepted. We particularly aim to improve health standards of developing countries including Pakistan by encouraging manuscript submissions on issues affecting the public health.

Manuscript Evaluation Process:

- Submitted manuscripts undergo a thorough review process to assess their originality, significance, reader interest, and composition.
- Manuscripts not submitted in accordance with the provided instructions will be returned to the author for necessary corrections before processing begins. To ensure originality, all manuscripts undergo a similarity check using the Turnitin service. Articles exceeding a similarity threshold of 20% are returned to authors for clarification and/or correction.
- Revised manuscripts are evaluated based on their responsiveness to suggestions and criticisms raised during the initial review. Following this, manuscripts are sent for evaluation by two external peer reviewers and statistical experts.
- Each manuscript undergoes further scrutiny for technical, epidemiological, statistical, ethical, and language accuracy. Accepted manuscripts may undergo editing by the Editorial Office for scientific precision and clarity.
- The Editorial Board of the Journal of the Pakistan Endocrine Society reserves the right to make the final decision on accepting or rejecting any article for publication at all stages of the review process.
